

Olivia Ryan
Professor Gordon
Web Technologies
14 September 2021

Olivia's Boston Cuisine Guide

Objective:

The objective of my website is to display different neighborhoods of Boston (North End, Fenway, Allston, etc.) and the best restaurants, or hidden gems, in that area of the city. I plan to use my own experiences, as well as other's reviews, to influence which restaurants I choose to display and advertise. The website will be a travel guide for those new to Boston, or old, to explore new restaurants and different kinds of cuisine. I plan to link external review sites, the restaurants' websites, and potentially, menu options, or my course recommendation. I love trying new restaurants around the city, so this will be an exciting compilation of all that I have found so far, and what I have yet to try!

Outline:

1. Home Page: The homepage will have an overview of the objective of my website, explaining that it will lead you to great new (to you) restaurants to try in the city of Boston. I will include photos of the city and landmarks people recognize in hopes of making the website visually appealing.
2. Contact Me: The contact me page will have my information for users to reach out with any comments, questions, concerns, or recommendations of their own.
3. About Me: This page will give the users a little background on me, my Boston history, as well as some of my favorite foods.
4. Neighborhoods: There is going to be a navigation menu with a drop down for each of the neighborhoods listed below. When the user is brought to their intended page, it will list my top 5-10 recommendations in that area. Additionally, this page will include links to each restaurant's website, my personal dish (or dishes) of choice, as well as a blurb with my parting thoughts.

1. North End

2. Seaport
3. Chinatown
4. Back Bay
5. Fenway
6. Allston

5. Top 5-10 Places To Eat in Boston: This page will give users a list of my overarching ranking of restaurants, regardless of neighborhood. This will be a helpful page for those that don't mind what area the restaurant is in, and distance is not a deterring factor.
6. Credits: Lastly, if I get information from anywhere other than myself, then I will rightfully credit the owner/author on this page, as well as, in-text or under photo citations.

My Hope:

My hope is to inform users of great spots in the city in a non-overbearing, yet visually pleasing way. I will do so by using photos, colors, maybe effects, and/or video! I look forward to learning more as this project progresses. Additionally, if restaurants is too broad of a topics, I would be happy to narrow down to maybe coffee shops within the different neighborhoods, or something similar instead!